

MILITIA FAILS TO AWE STRIKERS

Pawtucket Street Car Men Ignore Presence of the Troops.

ARE QUIET TODAY

Militia Has Stringent Orders To Keep the Mob Moving, and Avoid Trouble.

ONE BOY IS HURT

Pawtucket, R. I., June 13.—Six companies of infantry and two of cavalry failed to keep the striking street car men and their sympathizers in check here yesterday. Cars were smashed and shots fired by deputy sheriffs into a mob of strikers wounding a 14 year old boy despite the soldier's escort.

This morning a severe thunder storm has kept the men off the street but it is thought that there will be more serious trouble if the company tries to run any more cars today. The militia on the scene of action are in their armories under arms awaiting busy calls.

Have Stringent Orders Governor Kimball on hearing of the treatment of the strikers in yesterday's riots has issued stringent orders and all strikers will be kept on the move and not allowed to congregate. More troops will be sent to the city if it is deemed necessary.

Mayor Refuses to Act When the strike first started the street car companies asked for civil protection which the mayor refused and then deputy sheriffs were called into play. Seeing that this force was not sufficient to cope with the mob the sheriff telegraphed for troops.

Ask Compliance of the Law The strikers claim that are simply asking for a compliance of the law passed last winter fixing the hours of work at ten hours and that their demands have been met with scorn and the company claiming that the law was unconstitutional. It was on these grounds that the mayor refused aid.

MAY RESULT IN COMPLETE TIE-UP

Probable All Coal Workers Will Be Called Out at Sunday's Meeting.

DESPERATE ACTS

Despite Mitchell's Statement of All Quiet, Riots Occur Daily in the District.

SHOTS ARE FIRED.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—Officials on the Illinois District of United Mine Workers have received secret orders to attend a conference at Wilkesbarre Sunday. In view of the fact it was reported last night that forty-three thousand soft coal miners in Illinois will be called out it is believed a general call out of all the soft coal miners in the United States will be decided upon at the Sunday conference.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 13.—The strike situation here remains about the same this morning. President Mitchell reports that the organization of the strikers is completed and that the mines are now tied up so that no aid can be received by them. Most of the mines are in a complete state of seige and pickets have been posted about them. The workmen and guards employed by the operators are all kept behind the stockade at he mines' mouths.

Becoming Violent

Some of the officials of the Lehigh Valley road attempted to take aid to the beleaguered mines and when a few hundred yards from the Wilkesbarre bridge were shot at by men concealed in the bushes at the road side. When the train was run out from the colliery the miners attacked it from all sides and stoned it.

State Senator Whitehead Passes Onto Another Phase of Government.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN CLASS OF 1902

FIFTY-SIX GRADUATE FROM THE JANESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

Final Commencement Exercises Were Held Last Evening—Handsome Reproduction of "The Dying Gaul" Presented to the School by the Graduates—Last Farewell Spoken

Fifty-six young people stepped gladly, yet regretfully, across the threshold of old high school life last evening. With the presentation of their certificates of graduation, the last link in the chain binding the class of 1902 to the active work in the Janesville High school was broken and the class passed into the ranks of the Alumni association.

The final commencement exercises were held in the high school gymnasium, which was crowded to its fullest capacity in spite of the severe storm. The program as a whole was much better than the one of the preceding evening, this being due in a large measure to the fact that many of the interesting features were reserved for the final night.

Supt. H. C. Buell presided and the program was opened with instrumental music, "The Sans Souci Overture," played exquisitely by Harry Haggart and Laurence Doty, mandolin and Edward Wray, guitar. Each of the young gentlemen is a talented musician and together they form an excellent orchestra. The delightful audience demanded an encore but the young men did not respond.

Pioneer Janesville
The first graduate to appear on last evening's program was Catharine Blunk, who gave a very interesting thesis on "Janesville in Its Early Age."

Miss Blunk is a pleasing speaker and the audience listened with keen pleasure to her references to Samuel S. John, the first settler, Judge Holmes, W. H. Bailey, J. P.
Wixom and Volney Atwood, who is the oldest living settler; to her account of the platting of Smith, Balley and Stone addition, of the old line ferry, of the first drug store erected by Mr. Eddison on South Main street in a ravine which carried the drainage of the hill to the river, of the grocery store conducted by Mr. Balley and Thomas Lappin with a $200 stock of goods, of the first tavern, the first saw-mill and the first lumber yard, E. G. Field being the proprietor. The growth of schools and churches was traced and an interesting account given of the log homes and the manner of living in that early day.

The next number was a carefully prepared thesis on the Rural School Problem" capably presented by Elizabeth G. Green. She spoke of existing conditions in the country, poorly heated, poorly lighted and poorly ventilated school rooms, limited apparatus and lack of social advantages.
She advocated the establishment of one centralized graded school in place of several of these smaller schools and emphasized the value of such a system in adding to the comfort of the pupils as well as in increasing their opportunities. Taxation would not be increased but the money would be invested more wisely.

A Strong Oration
"The Man of the Town Meeting," was the subject chosen by Walter Anderson for his well-written oration, which was a eulogy of Samuel Adams. The speaker paid the highest tribute to Adams, as the man who led the thirteen colonies into the freedom of a nation. Others had a share in the work but their inconsistencies and fanaticalisms would have proved fatal without a man of the sterling qualities possessed by Adams. His ability to write, his power to sway a town meeting, his leadership of men, his unselfish love of justice and life-long devotion to the cause of liberty made him for all ages a beacon light on the cliff of country and integrity to God.

One of the ablest orations of the evening was given by Josephine Enright, her subject being "The Crusades." Her description of these struggles in the name of religion was exceptionally well-written. She mentioned the best and worst phases of the crusades telling how the vanguard of people unarmed and without food finally sold the women and children into slavery to secure food. The crusades accomplished their purpose, however, the returning crusaders bringing back the refinement, culture and learning of the east. Class distinctions were broken down and the principle of the brotherhood of man was fostered.

A Sweet Singer
Mrs. Frances Millin-Churchill, of Platteville, formerly soloist in St.
John's Episcopal church, Detroit, gave two solos on the program. "He Was a Prince" by F.
Lynes and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voices," an aria from "Samson and Delilah" by Saint Saens. Mrs.
Churchill has a beautiful soprano voice which she uses brilliantly and the audience was delighted with her singing. For encores she sang "Mighty Like a Rose" by Ethelbert Nevin, and "There Little Girl, Don't Cry," the music of which was written especially for her by Frederick Remick. Miss Mae Treat played her accompaniments faultlessly.

"Dramatization of the Novel" was the subject of a very interesting thesis, given by Mary E. London. The dramatizing of novels was upheld as the most successful way of reaching and impressing the general public.
The novel of the plot instructs incidentally, the novel of history increases one's knowledge of the past, the novel of character study helps one to understand men and the novel of theme has a great moral influence.
These objects are more general and more easily attained through the agency of the theater.

Electrical Experiments Lester Strang presented an interesting thesis and some excellent experiments on "Electricity as a Heat Producer." Electricity has long been used for light and power and is fast coming into favor for cooking and heating because of its convenience and cleanliness. The only drawback is the expense. The principal of the electric furnace and the electric fuse, valuable for blasting purposes and for firing submarine mines was illustrated by experiment. The best experiment was the heating of an iron wire not in cold water but passing an electric current through it, thus showing the value of electricity for welding purposes.

Under the subject "Foundation of Health and Wealth," Fanny Bennett made an eloquent appeal for the home. On it depends the health and morals of the people and the prosperity of the nation. Weak and unhealthy homes are based on ignorance of the laws of life. The possession of a sanitary home, the result of honest labor, brings a wealth greater than money. Nutrition goes far toward the acquirement of health and wealth and people were urged to study food values, the laws of nutrition and of home making.

Story and Song An enjoyable innovation on the program was a declamation "For His Mother's Sake," given in splendid dramatic style by Lucy Biglow. She gave the selection with intelligence, feeling and with reserve force and her interpretation of the Scotch characters was especially fine. Prolonged applause followed the selection.

Chester Morse's sweet and pure soprano voice was especially pretty in "Tell Me Oh Swallow," which he sang beautifully. His singing of "Celeste" as an encore was equally pleasing. Mrs. W. S. Jeffris played his accompaniments.

A Masterly Oration
By far the strongest number given by any member of this class was the oration on the "World's Indelibility to Egypt" by Isabella Mac-Lean. The oration showed deep research and thoughtful preparation.
The thoughts were clothed in choice English and were logically and forcefully arranged, the oration being far beyond the average of high school work. To Egypt, Miss MacLean ascribed a civilization beyond that of today in many respects. Her superior proficiency in the arts and in the plain rough crafts is evidenced by the fine carving and curiously fashioned weapons. She even engraved the diamond, a thing which cannot be done today. Great achievements were hers in arithmetic, geometry and astronomy. Her scientific, poetic and mythic writings were the origin of literature but she won her greatest renown in engineering and architecture, in the sphinxes and colossal and greatest legacy of all, the pyramids, which will never remain sources of wonder and mystery. She believed in the immortality of the soul, but being far beyond the other nations of the world her knowledge in many things died with her and she will always remain the land of lost arts, the source of human civilization.

Bequests of the Nations Miss MacLean's oration was one of a group of five on the inheritance of the present from ancient nations.
She was ably followed by Teresa Baler, who gave a thoughtful and well-written oration on "The Gift of the Greeks." The great men of history stand on the pages of history as giants among pygmies, compared to the men of modern times. Great in statesmanship, philosophy, sculpture, wisdom, literature and oratory, the Greeks left their greatest gift in the realms of art. In sculpture and in architecture they gave the world the highest ideals of beauty.

Mary E. Buckmaster spoke, charmingly and forcefully on "Our Roman Legacy." Rome was the strong right arm which spread the culture and art of the Greeks over the world. Rome was practical in her genius. She borrowed arts and culture from the provinces which she conquered but her military science was her own. Her ambition was conquest and domain.
She left the world a legacy of writings and the example of great men but her most important legacy was here supreme talent of law. The laws of today are founded on those of Rome and in the civil code is found the intellectual and moral monument to her greatness.

"The Anglo-Saxon Bequests" were ably presented in a well-written oration by Margaret Sullivan. The great institutions of today are founded on the nations of the past. It of all the legacies those owed to the Anglo-Saxons should be most highly prized.
Chief of these is the feeling of respect for women. The Anglo-Saxons raised the standard of womanhood and gave the world the word home and all that it represents. The English and Americans lead the world in their ability to learn. The Anglo-Saxons gave birth to commerce. An inestimable debt is owed them for the English language, the most eloquent ever spoken by the lips of men and for their greatest characteristics, love of liberty.

The final number in this group was one of the most interesting. Miss Harriet Cox speaking excellently on "The Hebrew Heritage." Far more important than the inheritance from other nations is the gift from the Jews, the religious education of mankind. The influence of a nation depends on the men it produces and no nation has given more great men than the Jews; orators like Paul, men of sublime faith like Abraham, heroes like Christ. The Jews produced a pure religious and powerful literature, books of history and romance, like Ruth and Esther, the Proverbs of Solomon, the prophecies of Isaiah, the poetic psalms of David. Greatest of all gifts, because fraught with eternal significance, is the matchless heritage of the Christian religion.

Miss Kimball at Her Best A character sketch from David Copperfield, given by Euretta Kimball, was one of the best numbers of this year's commencement. The scene in Peggotty's house when he tells David of Emily's engagement to his nephew was chosen and Miss Kimball's great talent was never shown more advantageously or more pleasingly than in the humor and pathos of this selection. Her character work as old Peggotty was excellent and throughout the entire selection Miss Kimball was charmingly natural though her work was exceptionally strong.

An interesting thesis, made instructive and entertaining by experiments which worked perfectly, was given by William Day on the "Electro Magnet." In the temporary magnet, discovered in the nineteenth century, lay the great gift of science. On it depends the dynamo, telephone, telegraph, electric railway and all electrical power. The principal of the electro magnet was explained with diagrams and its great power was practically illustrated by lifting an anvil, weighting one hundred pounds, from the floor with the magnet.

The Class Taken
Mary Stevens in behalf of the class then presented the school with the class token, a large and magnificent reproduction of "The Dying Gaul," handsomely framed in brown. Miss Stevens made the presentation very prettily, interpreting the picture as the symbol of the class' entrance into a new life. She gave the history and meaning of the original statue, explaining its points of strength and beauty and expressed the hope that it might prove an inspiration to the school as well as a reminder of the class whose affection for the school it represents.

The curtain was lowered while the mandolin orchestra played an inspiring march and when it was raised again the class of 1902 stood on the stage, a beautiful picture of graceful young womanhood and vigorous young manhood. In the foreground stood Miss Elisabeth Gravin whose valedictory was one of the most beautiful ever given in the city. Poetic in its thought and language and giving in most charming manner, the val-euctory and its fair author carried off the honors of the evening. As an introduction she gave a vivid description of the building and launching of a ship and likened it to the class of 1902. By years of study the members had been building the characters now to be launched on the sea of life. The school had been the ship yard, the studies the materials and the teachers the masterworkmen.
Words of appreciation for the interest shown by the public, the encouragement of the board of education and the guidance of the teachers were spoken and then the valedictories, underclassmen and her classmates followed.

Supt. H. C. Buell spoke a few well-chosen words of congratulation and commendation saying that the most priceless jewel of the school is the young manhood and womanhood which it sends into the world.
Diplomas Presented W. S. Jeffris, president of the board of education, happily extended the congratulations of that body and expressed the hope that the members of the class would attain that success which is the reward of high endeavor and that the wider work of life would be characterized by the same enthusiasm and faithfulness shown during their school life. He then presented the class with their diplomas.

The Class Song
The exercises of commencement then closed most happily with the singing of the class song, composed by Edith Loomis and set to the music of popular songs. The song is clever and original, without doubt being the best class song in the history of the school. It contains sentiment and personal hits and the class sang it splendidly, Miss Loomis, the talented author, directing the singing.
Josephine Treat presided at the plano.

SHOPIERE GRADUATES
Grammar School Send Forth a Goodly Class.

Commencement exercises were held at the Shopiere grammar school last Friday, June 6. The excellent program was faultlessly carried out, a number of pretty drills and some splendid music adding greatly to the interest of the exercises. The instrumental music was furnished by a fine orchestra and there was a pleasing song "The Kazoo Band" by La-Rue Stark, Gerald Stark and Roy Roth and two splendid vocal solos, "Yesterday" by Minnie Klingbell and "Brownies" by La Rue Stark.
The graduates and the subjects of their well written essays are as follows: Lester Butler, salutatory; Alice Capron, "The Ravages of War Upon Man and Country," Charles Smith, "Success in Life," Lucille Brown, "Knowing How to Wait," Francis Porter, "Industry and Method," Cora Stark, "Our Martyred President," Vernie Truesdell, "Three Divisions of Life" and Minnie Klingbell. The diplomas were presented by County Supt. David Throne. of '92 and of Olivet college, in Michigan as a student has been a brilliant one and this is by no means the first honor which he has won.

An Enormous Hit.

In "A Golf Song" the publishers should have an enormous hit. This song is a little on the order of the celebrated Stein song, but nevertheless very fresh and original. The chorus is particularly striking. It lodges as though every golfer in the country would be humming it before the season is over. Published by Ly-

ANOTHER LETTER FROM WHITEHEAD

prations to be asked from the legislature. The advantages of such a method are so apparent that it is hardly necessary to dwell upon them. It would necessitate first a clear statement to the legislature of the amount of the state's income already provided for, in order that before voting upon the appropriation bill the members would know whether the income of the state at the time was sufficient to meet the appropriations. Then to have before each member the full list of appropriations asked for would tend to greater care and a juster balancing of the merits of the different demands. Under the present system, each appropriation bill is pushed through with more or less haste and often with small regard to its relative importance and the great majority of members know of a bill of this kind only when it is before them and they must take action. The appropriations asked for could, under the budget method, be subject to a careful pruning, and time could and would be taken upon such a measure to have it discussed in detail, and such publicity be given to each item as would prevent the passage of unwarranted and unworthy appropriations.

"Some such measure or method as this would seem to be essential to an intelligent consideration and treatment of problems and legislative measures relating to taxation. Taxation in its various forms is the method by which the necessary revenues are secured to meet the expenses of government. An intelligent understanding of what those expenses shall and do consist of is only second in importance to the devising of methods by which revenues can be secured, and both belong to the same category. This is the tax commission's warrant for bringing up the subject in this connection. They believe it is impossible to separate the interests of revenue raising and revenue expenditure."

In his inaugural message to the Legislature of 1901, the Governor said:

"So long as the administrative and legislative departments persist in attempts to shift, each upon the other, responsibility for tax levies to meet deficiencies which both help to create, there must be abundant opportunity for improvement."

"In brief you have a legacy of over $300,000 excess appropriations from the last Legislature to take into your considerations, and the administration begins business with a considerable treasury deficit in sight in lieu of the balance which might be expected from the condition of the general fund at the close of the fiscal year as shown by the annual official reports available to the public for purposes of information."

"If the facts presented above are not sufficient to convince you of the desirability of better consideration of the revenues of the state before new expenditures are authorized, perhaps a stronger argument may be found in the accompanying table, showing the total receipts and disbursements of the state for a period of ten years from 1890 to 1899."

"It ought to be possible for the legislature to require complete reports of the financial condition of the state government to be published at the beginning of the calendar year. These will afford great assistance to legislative committees. In addition there should be required more accurate estimates for disbursements, the same to be made in detail for each department of state government. With this exact knowledge of the condition of the state's business at the close of each administration and at the beginning of each legislative appropriation bill covering all expenditures."

If there be an increase of taxes, it is due to the increased demand made upon the legislature, and the demands that are made are often only resisted by members of the legislature upon their own personal responsibility. Delegations of citizens, or representatives of organizations of citizens appear before the legislature to support a demand for an appropriation. No citizens appear in opposition, and it is a comparatively easy matter for the legislature to yield to the demand and make the appropriation. The appropriation often depends upon the amount of pressure brought to bear upon the legislature, and upon the urgency with which the demand is made. Under such a condition, what wonder if little or no effort be put forth to determine whether the expenditure might better have been made for some other object, or as well deferred until some future time. Citizens who lend their influence in support of a demand upon the legislature for an appropriation, unless they do so in the exercise of the same kind of prudence and care that characterizes the successful management of their personal affairs, contribute to the confusion that exists, add to the distrust that is talked about, and increase the difficulties that confront the whole people. Let each citizen then begin with the place with which he is most familiar, in the school district, the road district, the village, the ward, the city, the town, the county and insist that ample information be furnished in an intelligible way of what has been done with the public money already collected and expended, and that every proposition for the future expenditure of public money be presented in such a way that it may be understood in all its details. Everyone should know where the money has gone and where it is to go, as well as where it comes from. Until this becomes the attitude of the citizens, he should remember that the men whom he has assisted to place in office have done as badly as men possibly might do and that in a majority of cases they have done better, under all the circumstances, than he had any right to expect.

Under chapter 133 of the session laws of 1899, the Governor, Secretary of state and State Treasurer, were authorized to appoint an expert accountant, for the purpose of preparing a uniform system of keeping accounts of public moneys collected and disbursed in all departments of the state government.

passed, providing for the establishment of a uniform system of book-keeping in all the departments of the state, and in all the charitable, penal, reformatory and educational institutions of the state, it being the general design of the system to treat the departments disbursing public moneys as branches of the same institution, drawing their money from the same source, and accountable for its disbursements under public authority to the people. It was desirable that this system should so state the accounts that the ordinary citizen could examine them, that there should be an annual balance sheet which citizens could examine and thus determine the financial condition of the state. The extension and perfection of this system is vital to the creation of a better system of taxation. A comparative examination of accounts of different institutions, established for the same purpose, as, for instance, the accounts of the two normal schools, two state hospitals, would enable the average citizen to form a judgment as to what the state was getting for the expenditure.

The Legislature needs information. The people need and demand information. This method of comparison should be possible in all the municipal finance of the state. If the much talked-of uniform system of accounting for cities should be adopted, so that one city could compare in detail its expenses with those of another, so that the citizens of one city might know that they were getting for their outlays in the way of improvements, as compared with what the citizens of another city were being furnished, and if similar methods could be applied to towns and villages, citizens would enter upon an intelligent study of the subject of taxation by the first and most natural opening because all of the money that is thus disbursed and that enters into the making of those statements is money that is gathered in by taxation.

The public business carried on in Wisconsin, under the authority of law, involves annually outlays of upwards of $20,000,000 which must be met by taxation. Surely, business methods as applied to the expenditure of money have here a place for the manifestation of their highest efficiency, if the people are to cease to feel that their necks are galled by the yoke of taxation; and until the outgo is studied and understood, there is little room to hope for any general acquiescence in any distribution of the burden of providing the public income for which the wisest Legislature may make provision.

One of the main objections to the gross percentage system of taxing the great corporations was included in the following paragraph from the report of the present Tax Commission:

"The tax realized from railroads and other interests upon the percentage of receipts, gross or net, is limited, as already stated by the receipts of corporations alone. It is not effected in the slightest degree by public expenditures. The estimate of the amount required for the maintenance of state, county and municipal governments precedes the extension of taxes upon the property of the individual, and his taxes are then exactly measured by the relative proportion of the general burden proportionally and specifically assigned to his property. A direct interest in the expenditure of the fund is thus created leading to watchfulness. Expenses do not concern the payer of a license fee, for neither economy nor extravagance will affect the amount of the fee to be paid. The general welfare of the people is more likely to be conserved if all taxpayers are directly interested in the expenditure of the fund raised by taxation. The larger the contribution and the more powerful the taxpayer the more potentially can the power be exercised in favor of all that makes for good government."

Another important matter touched upon by the present Commission in their report was the separation of state and local revenues. I quote as follows:

"The economists who have discussed the subject nearly, if not quite all, advocate such a separation. The Tax Commission believes that such a segregation of the sources of revenue would do away with some of the most conspicuous evils now existing in our assessment system; and believe also, that ultimately some method of this kind must be adopted. They are not sure, however, that the time is yet ripe in Wisconsin for such a change."

"The separation, briefly explained, contemplates the securing of all the revenues necessary for carrying on the state government from sources that are not subject to assessment for local purposes. The system is half in force in Wisconsin now. The railroads and some of the other quasi-public corporations now pay directly into the state treasury a certain amount annually in lieu of all other taxes. The proposed method would simply extend the application of the system far enough to secure from such sources the 40 per cent. of the state's income now derived from direct tax levies, and leave the application of the general property tax to the county, city and town authorities to raise the needed local taxes. The most important advantage which would result from such change would be the abolition of the rivalry now existing between counties to keep assessments low and thus reduce their shares of the burden of the tax levied for state purposes."

"Whether the license fee system for the public service corporations be continued, or this class of properties be assessed by a state board, and the taxes paid directly into the state treasury, the result would be the same. A reference to the tables at the end of this chapter demonstrates that if street railways and other public service corporations' taxes were added to those now paid directly into the state treasury, it would require but little additional to meet the needs of the state."

"The commission have not been able to give to this subject the separation of the sources of state and local revenues the study that would warrant them in making any recommendations at this time, but they believe the trend of sentiment and wise legislation is in the direction indicated."

INSPECT: INTER URBAN ELECTRIC

Management Make Tour of Roadway—Will Be Completed in August—Had Washouts.

H. H. Cough, R. W. Hill and H. H. Jackson came up from Beloit yesterday afternoon to inspect the work along the electric line. They report about all the heavy grading as being completed and a large force of men are at work filling in the gaps. They expect to have the line completed by the middle of August, if nothing unforeseen happens. The second large engine is now being set up at the power house in Beloit and as soon as this is in place they will be ready to turn on the current between Beloit and Rockford.

At Work on Bridge.
They are now building their bridge across the river at Beloit alongside the city bridge. They have as yet laid no track in Beloit as there is likely to be the same trouble between the property owners and the owners of the road in regard to their laying track in front of their property. The people in Beloit claim that as this road competes with the railway line it does not come under the street railway act and the promoters are liable for damages.

Several Washouts.
They had four bad washouts on their line between Beloit and Rockford during the bad storm the first of the month. All of these have been repaired and the road is again in good shape.

A ROMANTIC WEDDING

Emerald Grove Couple Marry After Many Years of Courtship.

On Wednesday, June 13, the day of the Woodman picnic in Rockford, two well-known people of Emerald Grove joined the excursion party from this city and when they returned home they were man and wife, although they kept that fact quietly to themselves. The bride was Miss Mary Caldwell and the groom was Thomas Lawless.

For both, the days of youth passed by several years ago, but their marriage was romantically planned and executed. The license was procured in Chicago and forwarded to Rockford and the couple guarded their intentions with the greatest secrecy.

Both bride and groom are widely known throughout the county and the announcement of the wedding will be a great surprise to many people, although it was generally known that the couple have been attentive to each other for several years. The bride is in prosperous circumstances and owns valuable property in Emerald Grove. For about eight years past the groom has been employed on her farm as general overseer. Congratulations, though late, will be none the less sincere.

WERE MARRIED AT MEMPHIS

Miss McHenry, Formerly of This City Weds a Chicago Gentleman.

Word has been received in the city of the marriage of Miss Charlesetta Wallace McHenry, formerly of this city, and Alfred Schaffer, of Chicago. The ceremony was solemnized at Calvary church, Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday morning, June 4, at half past nine o'clock, the church being decorated with daisies. Mrs. F. P. Davenport, who was the matron of honor and the groom was attended by Stewart Reed Brown, of Chicago. Rev. F. P. Davenport, D. D., was the clergyman and J. F. Jefferson Hall presided at the organ. The bride was becomingly gowned in blue broadcloth and carried daisies veiled with asparagus ferns.

After an extended trip through the east Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer will make their home in Chicago, where Mr. Schaffer is connected with the seed firm of Albert Dickinson company. The bride resided in this city in her childhood, being a daughter of the late Col. Charles McHenry. From this city Miss McHenry went with her mother and sisters to Kenosha but for several years past she has been instructor in English at the Higbee High School in Memphis.

A DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Romola Lincoln Entertains Five of Her Little Friends at Supper.

Yesterday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Lincoln, 127 Madison street, was the scene of a very pretty party, the guests being six little tots. The party was given for little Romola Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lincoln, and the children who enjoyed the afternoon with her were Carroll and Arlene Coleman, of Oconto, who are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brewer, Phyllis Spooner, Harold Amerpohl and Marian Rogan.

The children were accompanied by their mothers, who enjoyed the afternoon just as heartily as the little people. Mrs. Lincoln had provided several amusing games for her youthful guests, who had the jolliest kind of a time playing on the broad porch and romping on the lawn. Shortly after five o'clock supper was served, the menu being prepared for the special delight of the children.

CAHILL-RUSSELL

Invitations have been received in the city for a large marriage reception which will follow the wedding ceremony uniting the futures of Miss Agnes Belle Cahill, of Waukesha, and Charles Copeland Russell, of Milwaukee. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties will be present at the ceremony, which will be followed by the reception. This reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Cahill, 209 Main street; Waukesha, Tuesday evening, June 21, from eight to ten o'clock.

Mr. Russell, the prospective groom, is the son of Mrs. John Winans, of this city, and resided here until a few years ago, when he went to Milwaukee where he has a large law practice.

Miss Flora I. Stevens and Charles E. Garnett, well-known young people of Evansville, came to this city yesterday morning and were married by the Rev. J. H. Tippet, at the Court Street M. E. parsonage at 11 o'clock. The happy couple was unattended and the ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Tippet and Mrs. J. L. Hay.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF
Meet Tonight: The Woman's Union Label League meets this evening at 8 o'clock at Assembly hall.

A Plain Drink: A drunk on North Franklin street last evening was the cause of a call being sent for the patrol wagon. It was discovered that he was only drunk and an officer sent to take charge of him.

Lost Three Fingers: Arthur King, employed at the Novelty Works had the misfortune yesterday afternoon to get his hand mixed up with a rip saw and as a consequence lost three fingers. He was taken to Dr. Plfield's office and his injuries dressed.

Flag Raising: County Superintendent William Ross and David Throne went to Milton this morning and delivered the principal addresses at a flag raising held at the district school about one mile north of Milton. The two schools taught by the Misses Golsomina and Viola Brown joined in the exercises and an excellent program was given.

Honor Foreman: Morgan M. Flint, foreman in Joseph Grundy's warehouse was presented with a solid oak rocking chair by the employees of the warehouse as a token of their regard. The presentation took place yesterday morning when the force was on its last day's work. Mr. Flint was highly pleased with the chair and thanked the employees for their splendid gift.

Lightning Hits: Yesterday afternoon during the thunder storm lightning struck in Academy street near the St. Paul passenger station. For a time things were quite lively around the station. The electricity played around the telegraph instruments in both stations and made it quite lively for the operators. Several telephone and telegraph wires in the vicinity were burned out but no great damage was done. Peter Goodman's back team were quite badly frightened by the bolt and a runaway was narrowly averted.

Schools Closed: The public schools closed for the summer vacation this morning. No sessions were held, the pupils simply reporting in the morning and receiving their cards of promotion which they must present next fall to the teacher of the room to which they are to be admitted.

Dedicate St. Mary's Church: The dedication of St. Mary's church will be a significant event tomorrow and many visiting priests will participate in the imposing ceremonies. The program of exercises will begin tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and will continue through the greater part of the day.

Final Trust.

The simple answer of a country lad was in this particular instance eloquent enough for an epitaph:

"Is your father at home?" asked a stranger.

"Yes—in heaven."

"How do you know he's there?"

"Kaze he said he wuz a-zoin' thar, an' he never tol' me a lie in his life!"—Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.

"What a blessing is poverty!" exclaimed the old man. "A blessing?"

"Why, yes; when you're real down poor you have such a good time hopin' for the best!"—Atlanta Constitution.

BURGLAR HID FOR TWO HOURS

Thief in the Bump Home Was Concealed in a Closet During Search.

There is hardly a doubt but that the burglar that entered Mrs. P. H. Bump's home on Wednesday night, remained in the house for at least two hours after they came home from the High School exercises and found out their house had been robbed.

Mrs. Bump and the other members of the family made a search for the man before going to bed, but they did not look in a long closet on the second floor that was filled with trunks and offered a secure hiding place. They closed the window in the kitchen by which the man had entered and then retired.

Heard Him Go Out.
About an hour and a half later Mrs. Bump was awakened by some one walking down the hall and an investigation showed that some one had gone out by the way of the kitchen window which had been closed shortly before.

Might Have Got Him.
If one of the family had gone to some of the neighbors and telephoned for an officer when they first came home there is hardly any doubt but that the man would have been caught but as it was Chief Hogan was not notified until about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. The check was drawn on the First National Bank of Chicago and the bank has been notified to stop payment on it.

FOOTVILLE.
Footville, June 12.—Wm. Ross, who formerly resided in this village, but now of the town of Janesville, Sunday at his brother's Adam Ross. Mr. Ross has also announced that he is a candidate for County Clerk. He no doubt would fill this position very satisfactorily.

PUNISHMENT.

Social progress has done away with a great many forms of punishment once administered under the laws of enlightened people. But nature never changes or modifies her penalties. She still has the same punishment for the man who neglects or abuses his stomach as she had in the far off days "when Adam delved and Eve span."

The physical discomfort, dullness, sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which are visited upon the man who eats carelessly or irregularly have been from the beginning the evidences of disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the diseased stomach and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, so that the sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which result from innutrition are cured also.

"I was taken sick nine years ago with fever," writes Mr. M. J. Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "The doctor and he broke up the fever all right, but I took diarrhea right away; he couldn't cure it and it became chronic, and then he gave up the case. I got so weak with it and had piles so badly I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up. Was that way two or three months; thought I would never be well again, but picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it fit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. I haven't been bothered with diarrhea since."

Milwaukee, Wis., June 13.—The National Association of Dancing Masters approved the committee report that provides for five new dances, to be known as the lyric, pompadour, delmar, sterling and eros. The lyric is a sort of a polka and the pompadour is on the lines of the schottische. The delmar is a combination of the redowa and two-step and the sterling is formed from the minuet, gavotte and waltz steps. The eros, or cupid dance, is for children.

Knights and Ladies of Security.
Louisville, Ky., June 13.—At the convention of the Knights and Ladies of Security matters pertaining to the future good of the order were discussed. The most important vote to be cast here will be on the place for the 1904 biennial session. St. Louis and Cleveland are contesting for the honor.

Refuse Bait to Frenchmen.
St. John's, N. F., June 13.—The official reports show that the French fisheries on the Grand Banks are a complete failure. Fishermen at St. Pierre have been unable to secure bait because of the stringent laws.

Discusses Convict Labor.
Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—Gov. Durbin, President Perkins of the State Federation of Labor, Factory Inspector McAbee and Secretary Nobis of the state charities board discussed convict labor. The present law will expire in 1904.

Prison for 'Tod Sloan.
Paris, June 13.—"Tod" Sloan, the American jockey, was sentenced to two days' imprisonment and a fine of 10 francs for driving an automobile at an excessive speed. He also was fined 5 francs each on two minor counts.

"Ripper" Bill Unconstitutional.
Cleveland, O., June 13.—Judge Babcock of the common pleas court decided that the board of tax review, as provided in the Longworth "ripper" bill, is unconstitutional. The decision is a victory for Mayor Johnson.

Doesn't Want the Boers.
Paris, June 13.—A dispatch received here from Berlin states that the German government has ordered the discouragement by every means of Boers trekking to its African colonies.

PRESS COMMENT.
Marquette Eagle: LaFollette himself only claims a majority of a hundred delegates out of the 1,000 which will be at the state convention. So much of an admission is a prelude to defeat.

Milwaukee Journal: It looks as though the caucuses and conventions now being held in the state would afford Gov. LaFollette more exercise than breaking colts down at the Fox farm.

Waupaca Record: If it proves to be a fact that he has gone into the Board of Control and tries to make them conform to his ideas, it is time that LaFollette was buried literally as well as figuratively.

Merrill Advocate: We understand that a favorite argument of the LaFollette supporters is the assertion by them that The Advocate editorials are furnished by the Republican League. It may not be of much moment but the facts are that such editorial comments as are published in this paper are written by the son of a Norwegians that edits this religious and very sanctimonious journal.

One on Adelaide.
A canard was curiously started last week that Adelaide King, of the Milwaukee Sentinel, was in the village. A handsome looking lady belonging to a fishing party from down the line was passing up Main Street, when the following was overheard between two urchins who were peddling Milwaukee papers:

"That's that lady that work for The Milwaukee Sentinel."
"How do you know?"
"Cos she lost her bussel off jump into a row boat and was stuffed plumb full uv Sentinels."—Winneconne Local.
